Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences

EXHIBITION LOAN POLICY

I. General Overview

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences' Margaret Herrick Library has extensive collections documenting the history of the motion picture industry. With approval from the Library's Loans Committee, some items may be made available for inclusion in exhibitions to recognized cultural institutions, provided they have established exhibition programs and a professional staff qualified to handle the items requested. Items are never loaned to individuals.

Loans of original items from the Library's collections are limited to exhibition periods of three to six months. Traveling exhibitions will be considered, but the Library reserves the right to limit the loan to the original venue, or to stipulate that certain items in an exhibition cannot travel to multiple venues.

Loan fees will be paid entirely by the borrower, including administrative, conservation, preparation, shipping, and courier costs. The Library requires that all original items be framed or housed in an appropriate enclosure, display case, or cradle, with preparations performed by the Library prior to shipping. The Library will determine whether original items must be accompanied by an Academy courier.

Digital files or reproduction prints may also be available for exhibition loans. When reproductions are printed by the borrower, the Library requests that the borrower use professional-grade printing. When reproductions are printed by the Library, the borrower is responsible for all printing and shipping costs.

II. Loan Requests

Loan inquiries and requests may be submitted via the Exhibition Loan Inquiry Form. Loan requests for original items must be submitted at least six months before the exhibition date, along with a copy of the institution's current Facility Report.

The Library Loans Committee's decision to loan items is based on the following criteria:

- The condition of the requested items as determined by the Library's conservation staff
- The nature, length, and educational value of the exhibition
- The anticipated need of the items for the Academy's own research or exhibition purposes

III. Research and Selection

Exploring the collections online

Academy Collections provides online access to the Academy's holdings, including the Margaret Herrick Library's collections as well as the Academy Film Archive's moving image collections. Selected items have been digitized from the Library's Core Collection (including clippings, press books, and lobby cards), Graphic Arts (including posters and production art), and Special Collections (including manuscripts and photographic materials*).

 Original photographic prints are not generally loaned; digital scans or reproduction prints are encouraged.*

To create a list in Academy Collections, check the box "Add to my selection" on the left of each selected item, then manage your list via "MY SELECTION" in the upper right corner. Please use lists to communicate with the Library, as this enables staff to evaluate and efficiently process your request.

Margaret Herrick Library's Digital Collections provides online access to selected periodicals, books, and pamphlets as well as studio publications and casting directories.

For assistance using any of these resources, inquiries should be directed to ref@oscars.org.

Exploring the collections in person

The Academy Collections database allows researchers to submit lists of selected items to be viewed during a visit to the Library. From your list in "MY SELECTION," please select "Submit research request" and then under "REASON FOR REQUEST," select "Send a list of archival material for a Library appointment." Next, go to oscars.libcal.com to schedule your visit.

Those who are unable to visit the Library to conduct research may obtain assistance from the Library's Research and Duplication Services, a fee-based service handled via email at libraryrds@oscars.org or by regular mail.

Requesting three-dimensional objects and film clips

Three-dimensional objects are generally housed in the collections of the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures. Inquiries should be directed to registrar@oscars.org.

Moving image materials and sound recordings are housed at the Academy Film Archive. Inquiries should be directed to filmarchive@oscars.org.
