Due to the continuing and evolving COVID-19 pandemic and as part of our ongoing effort towards inclusivity and added global engagement, the Campaign Regulations for the 93rd Oscars have been updated as follows:

1. Films currently on the Academy Screening Room:
 - In addition to sending Watch Now notices that the film is available to view on the Academy Screening Room, film companies may also send members a link to view the film that is subtitled in languages other than the languages currently supported on the Academy Screening Room (English, French and Spanish). Said link shall be available to the member for no more than a 24-hour period.
2. Films not yet available on the Academy Screening Room:
 - If a film is not yet available on the Academy Screening Room, film companies may provide members a link to view the film with said link being available for no more than a 24-hour period. The link to view the film may be subtitled in any language.
3. Virtual Q&As (Live or Pre-recorded):
 - Film companies may send a link to a virtual Q&A, so long as it is attached to a notice that the film is available to view on the Academy Screening Room. Said link shall be available to the member for no more than a 24-hour period.
 - If the film is not yet available to view on the Academy Screening Room, film companies may provide members a link to view the film and virtual Q&A, with said link being available to the member for no more than a 24-hour period.
 - NOTE: As stated in the Campaign Regulations, “After nominations are announced, and until the final polls close, Academy members may be invited to a maximum of four screenings of a nominated film preceded or followed by a Q&A. All participants in such Q&A’s other than the moderator must be nominated or have been eligible for nomination.”
4. Virtual receptions are not permitted.
5. Scene at the Academy:
 - Post Nominations, Scene at the Academy may continue to be referenced in FYC mailings to members. Any such reference shall not count towards the Q&A limitation referenced both above and in the Campaign Regulations.

*The above amendments pertain to all categories, with the exception of International Feature Film, as that award is not branch specific and has its own viewing and voting procedures. For campaign information for the International Feature Film category, please refer to the specific update pertaining to this category.

All updates should be read in conjunction with the full Campaign Regulations and are subject to change at any time.
